

Call for special session proposals for RAUGM 2017

The call for special session proposals on cutting edge geoscience research, to be held at the Mexican Geophysical Union Annual Meeting (RAUGM) 2017, will be open from April 4 to June 4 2017. Proposals for special sessions should be sent using the online form at the RAUGM website (<https://www.raugm.org.mx>).

At least 2 and a maximum of 4 session conveners are required. The person responsible for the application must be an active member of the UGM. For a special session to be opened, at least 8 participant contributions (15min oral presentation slot, or poster contribution) are needed, for a minimum of a two-hour block session. It is not guaranteed that a contribution, nor a short session, will be in oral presentation format, due to conference venue space restrictions. A special session may have a maximum of 4 "invited talks" (30min oral presentation slot). This category will be defined by the session conveners based on the work to be presented and the goals of the session. The UGM will not provide any type of financial support neither for special session invited speakers nor session organizers. In case there are sessions with similar topics and the possibility of merging them arises, the RAUGM organizing committee will contact the session conveners to discuss this prior to publication of the special sessions call for contributions.
